Sylvan Test Prep Seminars and SylvanPrep.com

Today, colleges are relying on standardized test scores when making admissions decisions to a far larger degree than they have in years. One reason is that the number of applications at most top colleges is soaring. That's not because there are more 18 year-olds graduating from high school. It is because more kids are each applying to more colleges. And with little increase in the size of admission staffs at most colleges, schools are using SAT and ACT scores to make a fast, easy cut of the applicant pool.

Sylvan Test Prep and SylvanPrep.com have been combined to make Sylvan Test Prep Seminars. The seminars are designed to provide students with the strategies and test taking tips that will give them an edge when taking the ACT. The online is designed to enhance content knowledge while providing test taking skills and strategies that apply to certain problems types.

So here's how it works:

As soon as the student enrolls in the program, he or she is given a year's access to SylvanPrep.com. These students have access to an initial assessment which formats the course content. Once that assessment is completed the student is then given access to WordSmith; an online vocabulary builder and over 2,000 videos lessons that cover the content of the ACT. Videos are designed to demonstrate test taking tips that help each student understand how they can change their approach to certain question types. Students enter their target ACT date and are then given a calendar of practice test dates; these tests open up more content and give students insight into their progress as well as areas of concern.

On the first Seminar date students will meet at their school and work through test taking tips, timing strategies and content concerns. Sylvan provides master educators highly trained in ACT Test Prep. The materials are designed to give students a testing structure that they can depend upon on test day. Students will work toward their target score and learn how to manage the test. The diagnostics that the online test provides helps Sylvan pull school wide concerns into the content reviews. This program cannot be matched, everything is covered and students can work through materials at their own pace on their own schedule any where in the world.

Something for all interested parties:

As the student works through the on line program parents can track their log in time, progress and content concerns. These concerns can be turned into reviews beyond the online explanations by classroom teachers during ACT review courses. Teachers can create classrooms and view common areas of concern thus enhancing their own teaching and streamlining their approach to test prep. School administrators have full access to the data that is collected on their student's testing. These results help in curriculum design and implementation.

The Sylvan Test Prep Seminar is available at Indian Trail students for these two set testing dates only (March 1st & April 9th). Students can start the online review in January or the first week of February but they also must attend the seminar sessions at the high school. This intensive process gives even the most involved student the time to prepare properly and reach their true potential.

Enroll early to make the most of this prep opportunity and the two testing dates:
